Policy Statement

Mental health is a state of well-being in which every individual realises his or her own potential, can cope with the normal stresses of life, can work productively and fruitfully, and is able to make a contribution to her or his community. (World Health Organization)

At our school, we aim to promote positive mental health for every member of our staff and pupil body. We pursue this aim using both whole school approaches and specialised, targeted approaches aimed at vulnerable pupils.

In addition to promoting positive mental health, we aim to recognise and respond to mental ill health. In an average classroom, three children will be suffering from a diagnosable mental health issue<sup>1</sup>. By developing and implementing practical, relevant and effective mental health policies and procedures we can promote a safe and stable environment for pupils affected both directly and indirectly by mental ill health.

Scope

This policy describes the school's approach to promoting positive mental health and wellbeing. It also outlines our procedures for responding to mental health issues. The policy is intended as guidance for all staff including support staff, volunteers and SGB members.

This policy should be read in conjunction with the GDST pupil health guidance in cases where a pupil's mental health overlaps with or is linked to a medical issue, and the school's SEND policy where a pupil has an identified special educational need.

Promoting Positive Mental Health

The skills, knowledge and understanding needed by our pupils to keep themselves and others physically and mentally healthy and safe are included as part of our developmental PSHE curriculum. The specific content of lessons will be determined by the needs of the cohort, but there will always be an emphasis on enabling pupils to develop the skills, knowledge, understanding, language and confidence to seek help, as needed, for themselves or others. We follow the PSHE Association Guidance<sup>2</sup> to ensure that we teach mental health and emotional wellbeing issues in a safe and sensitive manner which helps rather than harms.

Alongside the PSHE curriculum, a number of additional initiatives aim to promote pupil wellbeing by providing a sense belonging, connection and feeling part of a community.

Responding to Mental Health Issues

Mental ill health is a part of life in just the same way as physical ill health, it's OK to talk about it and it's OK to ask for help. All staff at the school have a role to play in pastoral care: pupils should feel that there is a range of staff they could talk to at any time if they have issues or concerns.

There are also a number of more formal sources of support in school that pupils can access:

<sup>2</sup> <https://pshe-association.org.uk/guidance/ks1-4/mental-health-guidance>

Senior School:

- Tutors, Heads of Year, the School Nurse and the Pastoral Deputy have formal responsibility for the pupils in their care and can provide advice and support.
- Counselling is available to pupils of all ages. Pupils in Year 7 and above can self-refer. Further details on the school's counselling arrangements can be found.
- Pupil run advice and buddying initiatives.
- Anonymous reporting system.

Prep School:

- Form teachers, the School Nurse, identified Emotionally Available Adults for more vulnerable pupils and the Pastoral Deputy Head can all provide advice and support.
- Counselling is available for all Prep pupils, this is triaged by the Pastoral Deputy Head.
- Anonymous reporting via Mrs Hayes' Listening Box and class worry boxes.

Warning Signs

Staff should be alert to signs and indications that a pupil might be experiencing mental health or emotional wellbeing issues. These warning signs should always be taken seriously and staff observing any of these warning signs should communicate their concerns with their Head of House or Ms A. Smith at the Senior School, and Mrs J. Hayes at the Prep School, and record on CPOMS in the first instance.

Peers are often aware of difficulties their friends may be experiencing at an earlier stage than staff. Pupils should be encouraged to talk to a teacher as soon as possible if they have concerns. Whilst they may be worried about passing on information of this nature, they should be reassured that this will be the most effective way they can help their friend.

Possible warning signs include:

- Physical signs of harm that are repeated or appear non-accidental
- Changes in eating or sleeping habits
- Increased isolation from friends or family, becoming socially withdrawn
- Changes in activity and mood
- Lowering of academic achievement
- Talking or joking about self-harm or suicide
- Abusing drugs or alcohol
- Expressing feelings of failure, uselessness or loss of hope
- Changes in clothing – e.g. long sleeves in warm weather
- Secretive behaviour
- Skipping PE or getting changed secretly
- Lateness to or absence from school
- Repeated physical pain or nausea with no evident cause
- An increase in lateness or absenteeism

Further information and sources of support for common mental health conditions can be found in Appendix A.

Any member of staff who is concerned for any reason about the mental health or wellbeing of a pupil should speak to their Head of House (Senior School) or the Pastoral Deputy Head, Mrs J. Hayes, (Prep School) in the first instance. If there is a fear that the pupil is in danger of immediate harm then the normal child protection procedures should be followed with an immediate referral to the appropriate DSL. All staff should be aware that mental health problems can be an indicator that a child has suffered or is at risk of suffering abuse, neglect or exploitation. If the pupil presents a medical emergency then the normal procedures for medical emergencies should be followed, including alerting the School Nurse and contacting the emergency services if necessary.

Managing disclosures

A pupil may choose to disclose concerns about themselves or a friend to any member of staff so all staff need to know how to respond appropriately to a disclosure.

If a pupil chooses to disclose concerns about their own mental health or that of a friend to a member of staff, the member of staff's response should always be calm, supportive and non-judgemental.

Staff should listen rather than advise and our first thoughts should be of the pupil's emotional and physical safety rather than of exploring 'Why?'

All disclosures should be recorded. This record should include:

- Date
- The name of the member of staff to whom the disclosure was made
- Main points from the conversation
- Agreed next steps

This information should be shared with the DSL who will offer support and advice about next steps.

Where a referral to CAMHS is appropriate, this will be led and managed by Ms. A. Smith (Senior School) or Mrs. J. Hayes (Prep School).

Confidentiality

We should be honest with regard to the issue of confidentiality. If it is necessary for us to pass our concerns about a pupil on, then we should discuss with the pupil:

- Who we are going to talk to
- What we are going to tell them
- Why we need to tell them

We should never share information about a pupil without first telling them. Ideally we would receive their consent, though in situations where a pupil may be suffering or at risk of suffering significant harm, information must always be shared with the DSL.

Parents should normally be informed (although the decision to inform parents is a sensitive one to be discussed with the DSL in advance). Pupils may choose to tell their parents themselves, and if this is the case, the pupil may be given 24 hours to share the information before the school contacts parents but decision would be made within the individual's assessment. As a school we will call the parent to follow up.

If a child gives us reason to believe that there may be underlying child protection issues then our child protection policy is followed.

Individual Care Plans

It is helpful to draw up an individual care plan for pupils causing concern or who receive a diagnosis pertaining to their mental health. This should be drawn up involving the pupil, the parents and relevant health professionals. This can include:

- Details of a pupil's condition
- Special requirements and precautions
- Medication and any side effects
- What to do and who to contact in an emergency
- The role the school can play

Signposting

We will ensure that staff, pupils and parents are aware of sources of support outside school in the local community. What support is available in the local community, who it is aimed at and how to access it is outlined in Appendix C.

We will also display relevant sources of support in communal areas such as common rooms and toilets and will regularly highlight sources of support to pupils within relevant parts of the curriculum. Whenever we highlight sources of support, we will increase the chance of pupil help-seeking by ensuring pupils understand:

- What help is available
- Who it is aimed at
- How to access it
- Why to access it
- What is likely to happen next

Supporting Peers

When a pupil is suffering from mental health issues, it can be a difficult time for their friends. Friends often want to support but do not know how. In the case of self-harm or eating disorders, it is possible that friends may learn unhealthy coping mechanisms from each other. In order to keep peers safe, we will consider on a case by case basis which friends may need support. Support will be provided either in one to one or group settings and will be guided by conversations with the pupil who is suffering and their parents with whom we will discuss:

- What it is helpful for friends to know and what they should not be told
- How friends can best support
- Things friends should avoid doing or saying which may inadvertently cause upset
- Warning signs that their friend may need help (e.g. signs of relapse)

Additionally, we will want to highlight with peers:

- That they can best support their friend by ensuring that an adult is aware of their difficulties

- Where and how they can access support for themselves
- Safe sources of further information about their friend's condition
- Healthy ways of coping with the difficult emotions they may be feeling

Referral to School Counsellor

SCHS has within its staff two school counsellors. Pupils are able to attend counselling in the following ways:-

- Self-referral - Pupils can refer themselves to the school counsellor in the Senior School.
- Tutor referral – Form Tutors can make recommendations to the relevant Head of House who will make a referral to the counsellor.
- Parent referral – Parents are welcome to request that their child attend counselling. A request for counselling should be made to the Tutor or Head of House at the Senior School or by the Form Teacher or Pastoral Deputy Head at the Prep School.
- The content of the counselling sessions remains confidential between the school counsellor and the pupil unless the welfare or safety of the pupil is considered to be at risk of significant harm. The school counsellor may, with the pupil's agreement, provide parents or schools' staff with a general progress report.

All requests for the counselling service should receive a response within 5 working days. The school should be aware that counselling is not always an appropriate response in an emergency situation and that a referral to a General Practitioner (GP) or other Child Protection policy action may be required.

New referrals will be discussed with the counsellor each week and the waiting list reviewed. The priority for each pupil awaiting counselling should be re-assessed and if there is any new relevant information about a pupil, who is engaged in counselling or on the waiting list, this should be shared.

It is important to manage the schedule of counselling sessions for pupils and liaise with the counsellor to ensure that a pupil does not regularly miss the same lesson and that sessions are sensitive to the school's timetabling constraints.

The school counsellor will be available in the school at the agreed time each week and will be contactable for urgent referrals; this makes the school counsellor accessible to all members of the school community, helps develop relationships and reinforces the view that counselling is a normal part of a school's provision for its pupils and staff.

Partnership with Parents

Parents are often very welcoming of support and information from the school about supporting their children's emotional and mental health. In order to support parents, we:

- Highlight sources of information and support about common mental health issues on our school website
- Ensure that all parents are aware of who to talk to, and how to go about this, if they have concerns about their own child or a friend of their child
- Make our mental health policy easily accessible to parents
- Share ideas about how parents can support positive mental health in their children through our regular information evenings
- Keep parents informed about the mental health topics their children are learning about in PSHE and share ideas for extending and exploring this learning at home

Where issues arise with individual pupils and it is deemed appropriate to inform parents, we need to be sensitive in our approach. Before disclosing to parents we should consider the following questions (on a case by case basis):

- Can the meeting happen face to face? This is preferable.
- Where should the meeting happen? At school, at their home or somewhere neutral?
- Who should be present? Consider parents, the pupil, other members of staff.
- What are the aims of the meeting?

It can be shocking and upsetting for parents to learn of their child's issues and many may respond with anger, fear or upset during the first conversation. We should accept this (within reason) and give the parent time to reflect.

We should always highlight further sources of information and give them leaflets to take away where possible as they will often find it hard to take much in whilst coming to terms with the news about their daughter. Sharing sources of further support aimed specifically at parents can also be helpful too, e.g. parent helplines and forums.

We should always provide clear means of contacting us with further questions and consider booking in a follow-up meeting or phone call right away as parents often have many questions as they process the information. Each meeting should finish with agreed next steps and always keep a brief record of the meeting on the child's confidential record.

Staff Mental Health

The mental health of our staff is as important to the school as is that of our pupils. Nationally over the past few years the level of work-related stress, burnout and work absence amongst teachers has increased. Teacher wellbeing has significant implications not only for the individual teacher, but also their colleagues, pupils and the school more broadly. Research indicates that teacher morale directly correlates with pupil achievement.

A number of school initiatives support the wellbeing of our staff:

- Staff as well as pupils should feel that there are individuals they can talk to if they feel they might be experiencing mental health or emotional wellbeing issues. If they do not feel able to approach their line manager they should speak to one of the SLT, or the school's HR Business Partner at Trust Office
- All staff and immediate family members who live with them have access to the GDST's Employee Assistance Programme – details of which can be found on the Knowledge Hub

Training

As a minimum, all staff will receive regular training about recognising and responding to mental health issues as part of their regular child protection training to enable them to keep pupils safe. Where the need to do so becomes evident, we host additional training sessions for all staff to promote learning or understanding about specific issues related to mental health.

Training opportunities for staff who require more in-depth knowledge are provided through the GDST Learn programme. This typically includes role-based training for form tutors, Heads of Year, Pastoral Leads and DSLs, and topic/skills-based training such as social and emotional development at different ages, self-harm and counselling skills.

Links to other policies

This policy operates in conjunction with:

- Safeguarding and Child Protection Policy
- GDST Inclusion Policy
- GDST Equal Opportunities Policy
- SEND Policy
- Anti-Bullying Policy
- Eating disorders and self-harm

Monitoring, evaluation and review

The effectiveness of this policy and the school's positive mental health strategies will be continuously evaluated through monitoring of pastoral cases and referrals to the school councillor, and in collaboration with pupils via the pupil council.

This policy will be reviewed every 2 years as a minimum. It was last reviewed on 31/07/23 and is next due for review in 07/25

Additionally, this policy will be reviewed and updated as appropriate on an ad hoc basis as the need arises. If you have a question or suggestion about improving this policy, this should be addressed to Ms. A. Smith.

The policy will always be immediately updated to reflect personnel changes.

Self-harm

Self-harm describes any behaviour where a young person causes harm to themselves in order to cope with thoughts, feelings or experiences they are not able to manage in any other way. It most frequently takes the form of cutting, burning or non-lethal overdoses in adolescents, while younger children and young people with special needs are more likely to pick or scratch at wounds, pull out their hair or bang or bruise themselves.

Depression

Ups and downs are a normal part of life for all of us, but for someone who is suffering from depression these ups and downs may be more extreme. Feelings of failure, hopelessness, numbness or sadness may invade their day-to-day life over an extended period of weeks or months, and have a significant impact on their behaviour and ability and motivation to engage in day-to-day activities.

Anxiety, panic attacks and phobias

Anxiety can take many forms in children and young people, and it is something that each of us experiences at low levels as part of normal life. When thoughts of anxiety, fear or panic are repeatedly present over several weeks or months and/or they are beginning to impact on a young person's ability to access or enjoy day-to-day life, intervention is needed.

Obsessions and compulsions

Obsessions describe intrusive thoughts or feelings that enter our minds which are disturbing or upsetting; compulsions are the behaviours we carry out in order to manage those thoughts or feelings. For example, a young person may be constantly worried that their house will burn down if they don't turn off all switches before leaving the house. They may respond to these thoughts by repeatedly checking switches, perhaps returning home several times to do so. Obsessive compulsive disorder (OCD) can take many forms – it is not just about cleaning and checking.

Suicidal feelings

Young people may experience complicated thoughts and feelings about wanting to end their own lives. Some young people never act on these feelings though they may openly discuss and explore them, while other young people die suddenly from suicide apparently out of the blue.

Eating problems

Food, weight and shape may be used as a way of coping with, or communicating about, difficult thoughts, feelings and behaviours that a young person experiences day to day. Some young people develop eating disorders such as anorexia (where food intake is restricted), binge eating disorder and bulimia nervosa (a cycle of bingeing and purging). Other young people, particularly those of primary or preschool age, may develop problematic behaviours around food including refusing to eat in certain situations or with certain people. This can be a way of communicating messages the child does not have the words to convey.
